ANIMAL WELFARE UPDATE

RESEARCH SPOTLIGHT: The impact of lighting on stress and behaviour

Did you know that switching from fluorescent to flicker-free LED lighting can reduce stress in kennelled greyhounds?

Recent research reveals that the type of lighting used in kennels and shelters can play a key role in the welfare of dogs, including greyhounds. Fluorescent lighting, commonly found in many facilities, flickers at a frequency detectable by dogs, which can contribute to increased stress. A study that compared the behaviour of shelter dogs under fluorescent and flicker-free LED lighting provides useful insights for greyhound trainers and owners seeking to improve the comfort and wellbeing of their dogs.

The study followed 54 shelter dogs over three weeks, observing their behaviour under both types of lighting. Dogs exposed to fluorescent lights displayed more stress-related behaviours such as barking, pacing, and lip licking—signs often associated with anxiety and heightened arousal. In contrast, dogs under flicker-free LED lighting were calmer, more likely to lie down, rest and orient towards the back of their kennels, indicating a more relaxed state.

For greyhound trainers and owners, this research suggests that switching to flicker-free LED lighting could create a more peaceful environment for the dogs in your care. By reducing environmental stress, the dogs may become more relaxed and settled, which could improve their overall wellbeing.

When making the switch, LED tubes can often be installed directly into existing fluorescent fixtures. However, it's important to ensure that the LED tube is compatible with your specific fixture and ballast setup. If you're replacing fixtures entirely, please remember that all electrical work must be performed by a licensed electrician in compliance with legal safety requirements. For more information on electrical safety, visit Electrical Safety in the Home.

By taking this small step to improve the lighting in your facility, you can help promote a calmer, more relaxed environment for your greyhounds, which may positively impact their behaviour and welfare.

GREYHOUND INJURY FULL RECOVERY SCHEME (GIFRS)

The GIFRS was discontinued on 1 February 2024, however greyhounds that entered the scheme prior to this date may continue to have updates to their rehabilitation and rehoming status and will therefore continue to be reported. Under GIFRS, the ownership of a greyhound that sustained an eligible injury at a race meeting or official trial was transferred to RWWA's Greyhounds as Pets (GAP) program, following which the injured greyhound was transported to emergency care and all associated costs of surgery and rehabilitation covered by RWWA. If suitable, the greyhound is then rehomed post recovery through GAP's standard processes.

WE'RE RACING TOWARDS BETTER.

Whether that means better animal welfare, better days out, better support for local economies or better integrity measures – we're doing everything we can to make racing better.

Because what we do isn't just about the thrill of the race, it's about the never-ending effort we put into making those races possible. We celebrate the community that racing connects, knowing it links us in meaningful ways. It's why we work so hard – so that all of WA can enjoy racing now, and into the future.

We're proud of the progress we've made as an organisation over the years, but we're not slowing down anytime soon.

Our animal welfare standards are better than best practice, but constantly evolving. With values-led integrity and governance, we ensure racing is fair for all, every time. Last year alone, our sport employed some 20,000 people, providing more than $1.3 billion to the Western Australian economy.

There's no finish line in the race towards better. It's the race that excites us the most, and it's what keeps us passionate, so that everyone can responsibly enjoy racing for generations to come.

We all love racing, so join us, in the race towards better.
